For the Cabinet.

Conference Treasurer—On motion, J. D. Turley of Coldwater, Miss., was elected Conference Treasurer.

Education—The Board of Education made Report No. 1, which was read and adopted as follows:

EDUCATION, No. 1.

Your Board notes with gratitude to God the great progress made in our educational work throughout the Church, especially within the bounds of our own Conference. The large campaign launched by the last General Conference calls for our co-operation and prayers. The reports of Millsaps College and Grenada College show a healthy condition at each of these Conference schools.

If it is ever proper to place emphasis upon education, this is the time. The wrong idea of education and not the lack of education is largely responsible for the calamitous war of the past four years. If the principles for which the world has fought, if the American slogan "make the world safe for democracy" do not emphasize Christian education, then we believe we shall not have won a complete victory.

Your Board views with favor the suggestion of Bishop Candler, Chancellor of Emory University, that a Peace Building shall be erected upon the campus of that institution.

We are gratified that the General Conference took action requiring all undergraduates to take the Conference course of study through the Correspondence School, and we respectfully ask each Presiding Elder to notify all undergraduates in his District of the fact that there will be no more examinations at the Conference sessions except for those applying for admission on trial.

We recommend the reappointment of J. R. Countiss as President of Grenada College, and of T. M. Brownlee as Commissioner. We nominate W. S. Shipman and J. G. McGowen for re-election to the Board of Trustees of Grenada College, and also nominate T. H. Dorsey, R. W. Sharp, and W. L. Wilkinson to fill vacancies on same Board. We nominate J. R. Countiss to take the place of S. M. Thames, deceased, on the Board of Trustees of Millsaps College.

For Conference Secretary of Education, we nominate L. P. Wasson.

Respectfully submitted,

R. A. MEEK, Chairman.

O. W. BRADLEY, Secretary.

EDUCATION, No. 2.

We are gratified to note that Grenada College has at present the largest attendance in her history, besides the considerable number refused admission because of lack of room. The erection of the proposed dormitory is a pressing necessity. Subscriptions for this purpose equal the amount the building is estimated to cost, but part of these subscriptions are not due for two years. We therefore offer for your adoption the following:

The Board of Education recommends that the Conference grant the trustees of Grenada College the right to encumber the college property to such an amount as may be found necessary to complete the building now in process of construction.

R. A. MEEK, Chairman.

O. W. BRADLEY, Secretary.

ORPHANS' HOME.

We wish in the beginning to express our gratitude to Almighty God for that kind providence which has been over our institution during the year. During the months of January, February and March our Home was in the throes of measles, pneumonia and whooping cough, and during October the influenza swept our ranks; but during all this there were only a very few serious cases of illness and only one death traceable directly to the disease. One little girl died of pneumonia and the death of two others was hastened by the epidemics. We feel that we have great cause for gratitude.

On November 1st, 1917, there were 185 children in the Home. During the year closing November 1st, 1918, our books showed 50 children admitted and 12 returned to the Home. Fifty-seven children have been placed in good homes, taken out by parents, or have gone out for themselves, and 3 have died, leaving in the Home November 1st, 1918, 187 children. At this writing there are pending several applications for admission into the Home and several requests for children for adoption which are being investigated.

At our meeting in the spring a committee was appointed who, with the manager, were authorized to make extensive repairs on our buildings. These repairs have been completed as far as the money would permit and we now have buildings thoroughly screened with our heating plants thoroughly overhauled, and our children are now in comfortable dormitories. We hope during the coming year, if our finances will permit, to complete the work of repairs and by the next session of the annual conference to report the plant in thorough condition.

On the farm we are making changes which we believe will be for our good and also for the good of our boys. Not only are our buildings and outhouses being repaired but we are introducing registered stock and preparing to properly care for this stock and as soon as possible, and with our limited resources and opportunities, teach our boys in a scientific way to farm. We hope next year to realize more largely from our farm those things needed to run the institution than heretofore.

We are sorry to have to report that the regular series of religious services usually held at the opening of our school could not be held this year. The repair work was still in progress and the noise and confusion incidental thereto would have made this exceedingly difficult. By the time the workmen had left the prevailing influenza broke out and for six weeks our time was devoted to nursing our sick. It is our purpose, however, to have these religious services held as soon after the session of our conference as is practicable. Our Sunday School and other religious services have been carried on and we are anticipating some changes which we believe will make them more profitable to our children. We are planning for the boys on the farm to worship with us during the ensuing year. Our school is in fine condition. We have five teachers regularly employed and every inmate of the Home old enough is in school. The course of study has been re-arranged and we are correlating with the High Schools of the city of Jackson so that our pupils completing the Grammar School with us can enter the High School without conditions. One of our girls graduated last spring and is now taking the regular A. B. course at Whitworth College, being maintained by Brother James Hand, a staunch friend of the Home. Next spring two of our girls will graduate from the High School and it is our earnest desire to put them in college also if some friend will come to our assistance.

Our financial budget has been greater this year than possibly ever before in the history of the institution owing to war prices, but we are glad to say that all our bills have been promptly met and without embarrassments and we are not in debt nor have we been during the year.

Below is our financial statement for the year:

Balance on hand November 1st, 1917.....	$ 6,548.44
Regular receipts from Nov. 1, 1917 to Nov. 1, 1918.....	21,519.33
Work Day receipts	5,116.52
Total for the year.....	$33,182.29

The term of office of two Directors expires with this conference: Rev. T. H. Dorsey and J. H. Sherard. We request that you elect their successors.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors in April Rev. B. F. Lewis, of the Mississippi Conference, was re-elected as Superintendent for the ensuing year.

JNO. H. SHERARD, Chairman.

Directors Elected—On motion, T. H. Dorsey and J. H. Sherard were re-elected as members of the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Methodist Orphans' Home.

Methodist Hospital—The Commissioners of the Methodist Hospital made the following report:

Dear Fathers and Brethren:

The Commissioners of the Methodist Hospital have recognized from the beginning the tremendous task that had been assigned them by the Church, and they have planned and worked as sincerely and as fully as they knew how to accomplish the task. The Commissioners and the active agents, from the first, have trod new and uncertain paths through which they have moved as fast as the massive weight of the undertaking and the responses of the people would permit. Whatever criticisms may have been or may be offered to the contrary, more has been accomplished, however, than visible signs indicate or that could possibly be reduced to facts and figures. It is a conceded fact that the project has grown in popular favor and there is today more pronounced willingness to give moral and financial aid than ever. The Board of Commissioners rejoices to see the manifest interest throughout the Conferences in the progress of the new building and they are themselves keenly alive to the importance of erecting same as speedily as possible.

Broad foundations had to be laid for the new building as contemplated at present, as well as for future growth, and the Commissioners therefore purchased the most desirable lot in the city of Memphis, agreeing to pay $100,000.00 therefor, which indebtedness has been fully met.

In June of 1918 the women constituting the Board of Directors of the Lucy Brinkley Hospital, located in Memphis, transferred by deed to the Methodist Hospital that institution with its good will and all of its financial belongings. This hospital was well equipped and has been operated since that date by the Methodist Hospital. The statement that the auditors made on the day the Lucy Brinkley was taken over by the Methodist Hospital showed the net book value of that institution to be $99,597.50.

There are unpaid subscriptions amounting to $123,160.50, which added to the value of the lot and the net value of the Lucy Brinkley Hospital acquired will make a total property value of $322,758.00.

Since the meeting of the annual conferences in 1917 these has been added $108,753.00 in subscriptions, real estate and personal property, to the assets of the Hospital.

Since the meeting of the annual conferences involved in the building of the hospital a charter has been secured under the laws of the State of Mississippi, and all of the property is held in trust for the benefit of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The following members of your Board of Trustees expires with this Conference and we would request that you appoint their successors: Rev. W. S. Lagrone, Rev. J. C. Park, Mr. Jno. H. Sherard, Mr. M. C. Smith, Mr. W. T. Reeves, Mrs. J. M. Wyatt.

JNO. H. SHERARD, President.
THOS. B. KING, Secretary.

Trustees Elected—On motion, J. H. Sherard, M. C. Smith, W. T. Reeves and Mrs. J. M. Wyatt were re-elected to membership on the Board of Trustees of the Methodist Hospital, and Rev. R. A. Tucker and Dr. R. A. Meek were elected in place of Rev. J. C. Park and Rev. W. S. Lagrone, deceased.

Christian Literature—The Board of Christian Literature made the following report, which was read and adopted:

CHRISTIAN LITERATURE.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate is doing the work of a family religious newspaper in a most satisfactory manner. Its circulation, however, is too small to give it proper financial support. At the recent meeting of the Publishing Committee, it was decided to put on a campaign for subscriptions similar to that of last year. Rev. J. H. Felts was selected to manage this campaign in the bounds of our Conference. This Board asks for him the hearty co-operation of every member of the Conference.

We recommend T. H. Lipscomb, J. H. Felts, and J. W. Dorman for election to membership on the Publishing Committee for the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Christian Advocate (Nashville), the Methodist Review, The Sunday School Literature and Missionary periodicals are all of the very best quality and should be circulated and read throughout the connection.

This Board has organized for the work of the quadrennium, and realizes the importance of the work committed to its hands. We ask the full support of the Conference.

Respectfully submitted,

J. W. DORMAN, Chairman for Board.

Epworth League—The Epworth League Board made the following report, which was read and adopted:

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

We find our Conference greatly lacking in interest in the Epworth League. The preachers and people seem not to regard it as of sufficient importance to command their serious attention. We therefore recommend that both preachers and people give more thorough consideration to the new relation of the League to the other Church organizations.

It is hoped that during the coming quadrennium, the new Board may be able to carry out larger plans and increase interest in the League by reason of the provision now made for the financial support.

J. W. DORMAN, President.

Church Extension—The Board of Church Extension made the following report which was read and adopted:

CHURCH EXTENSION.

Your Board in reviewing the annual report of the Secretary of Church Extension, Dr. Boaz, is gratified to note that there has been an increase in the income from all sources during this quadrennium of $563,919 over any former quadrennium. The total Loan Fund now amounts to $1,106,326. These are large and begin to indicate the resources of a great Church. The General Conference has ordered that the Loan Fund be increased by the sum of $1,140,000, and we believe the sum will be reached.

The report of our Treasurer shows a slight increase in the amount collected on assessment for 1918 over 1917. This Board has raised from all sources since its organization in 1883 more than $125,000. The Conference Loan Fund is now $2825. This fund should be augmented by gifts and thus serve a large purpose in the coming of the Kingdom.

We would again call attention to the Department of Church Architecture established by the parent Board. It will be well for all who contemplate a new church enterprise to secure plans from this department.

We record our grief at the departure of the President of this Board, Rev. W. S. Lagrone. He was faithful to the duties of his office. At the close of his long and useful life, he leaves his family a good name and his Church an unstained record of forty-six years of faithful service.

We request an assessment of $8,786 for Church Extension for the coming year, and make the following financial exhibit for the year now closing:

We recommend that the Conference accept the allotment of $883,284.10, and that it be raised to $900,000.00.

We have elected Rev. B. P. Jaco, Conference Missionary Secretary, and respectfully ask that he be appointed to that work by the Bishop. We also request the reappointment of Rev. J. A. Bowen and Rev. J. H. Bell as Conference Evangelists.

W. N. DUNCAN, for the Board.

Evangelism—The Board of Missions nominated and the Conference elected the following Committee on Evangelism: T. M. Brownlee, W. L. Graves, T. M. Bradley, E. G. Mohler, and J. W. Ward.

Dr. J. A. Bray, Secretary of Education for the C. M. E. Church, addressed the Conference and took a collection for the purpose of employing teachers of domestic science for negro girls in their various schools.

Adjournment—The hour for adjournment having arrived, sundry announcements were made, the Bishop led in singing

When I can read my title clear
To mansions in the skies, and the morning session closed with the benediction by J. H. Holder.

SECOND DAY—AFTERNOON SESSION.

Opening—The Conference met at 3 o'clock p. m., Dr. R. A. Meek, by appointment of Bishop Kilgo in the chair. O. L. Savage conducted the worship which consisted of a hymn and prayer.

Minutes Approved—The minutes of the morning session were read and approved.

Referred—On request of the Cabinet, J. W. Bell, A. H. Williams, W. J. O'Bryant and James Porter were referred to the Committee on Conference Relations for the superannuate relation.

Sunday Schools—The Sunday School Board made the following report which was read and adopted:

SUNDAY SCHOOLS, No. 1.

The Sunday School Board requests the appointment of Rev. R. H. B. Gladney as Sunday School Field Secretary and his compensation is fixed at $2000 and traveling expenses.

We heartily commend his work for the past year and ask pastors and people to co-operate with him for the future.

Respectfully,

J. G. McGOWEN, Chairman.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS, No. 2.

Our Field Secretary has helped in organizing thirteen schools, has done institute work in one hundred fifty-one (151) schools, ordered six hundred seventy (670) books and literature to the amount of $165.00. Forty teacher-training classes have been enrolled, besides a large number of individual students. Mission study as a vital part of the cause in religious education has been emphasized. Many classes have done this work well. Twenty-eight Home Departments have been organized and about one hundred fifty (150) family altars have been established in connection with this department.

The Graded Lessons for beginners have been introduced in every school where it has been practicable. The better schools have been using Graded Lessons for beginners, primaries, and juniors for some time. The quality of the work being done throughout the Conference is steadily improving.

We shall build character and extend the Kingdom of God as we train officers and teachers.

We, therefore, recommend:

1. That we use one day for teacher-training during the session of our Efficiency Conference to be held in Grenada.

2. That we organize a class for leadership to be taught during the Sunday School hour in all our schools.

3. That we request all teachers and officers to have at least one unit within six months of their appointment to work in the school.

4. That we appoint the Missionary Committee in each school, that we present the missionary program the fourth Sunday in each month, and that we accept as a minimum five cents per member as a monthly offering to the Centenary Fund.

5. That we use every means possible to welcome our men as they return from the army, organize them into Wesley Bible Classes and give them an opportunity to render as great service for church as they have given to our country.

J. G. McGOWEN, Chairman.

Spiritual Interests—The Committee on Spiritual Interests made the following report which was read and adopted:

SPIRITUAL INTERESTS.

Of all the interests of the Church, there is none comparable to the importance of the spiritual life. All her enterprises must draw their life blood from infinite love. If the vital connection with Christ is broken, the flames of hope will cease to burn. Any activity that falls below the standard of godliness in the Bible has no apology to offer for its existence. Woe unto the life that moves upon the mere surface of things religiously.

The inertia of this world cannot be overcome by mere human hands, the secret of power is with God. Your committee is grateful to report signs of progress in the work.

Many conversions have been reported this year. We would urge our people to establish family altars to be more consistent in observance of the maintenance of the sanctity of the Sabbath, the reading of God's word, together with all pure Christian literature.

Respectfully,

O. L. SAVAGE, for Committee.

Minutes—On motion, the Conference ordered an assessment of $800.00 for printing the minutes for the year 1919 and directed the Secretary to prepare matter for making the issue of the journal for the fiftieth session a semi-centennial year book. The Conference Boards were directed to pay any deficit incurred in printing the minutes for the current year.

Mrs. Page—The following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That the North Mississippi Conference accepts with much gratitude the deed of love on the part of Mrs. Willie Conger Page, of Lexington, Miss., in the production of the beautiful story "Sunset and Evening Star," which she has written and published on behalf of our superannuated preachers.

BEN P. JACO,
R. A. MEEK.

Superannuated—The Committee on Conference Relations made a report recommending the superannuation of certain brethren, furnishing further answer to Question 20, Who are superannuated? W. J. O'Bryant, J. W. Bell, A. H. Williams, James Porter.

Memorial Service—Rev. W. S. Shipman announced a hymn, which was sung, after which he led in prayer. The Committee on Memoirs then submitted the following memoirs to the deceased preachers of the year, several of the brethren paying affectionate tribute to the life and character of the departed.

Deceased—The chairman called Question 21, What preachers have died during the year? W. S. Harrison, W. C. Lester, S. M. Thames, H. C. Morehead, C. R. A. Brantley, J. C. Park, and W. S. Lagrone.

MEMOIRS

Rev. William Samuel Harrison.

William Samuel Harrison, son of John E. and Mrs. Rebecca Harrison, was born in Bedford County, Tennessee, July 28, 1834. He was converted August 18, 1853, and was licensed to preach in 1854, joining the Memphis Conference of which he continued to be a member until the organization of the North Mississippi Conference in 1870. He was admitted into full connection in 1857 and ordained deacon by Bishop Paine. He received elder's orders at the hands of Bishop Andrew in 1859. He served the Trenton Circuit in 1855; Dresden in 1856; Middleton, 1857; Richmond in 1858; Concordia, 1859; Cageville, 1860; Oxford, 1861-2; Sardis, 1863; Chulahoma, 1864-5; Cockrum, 1866; was supernumerary in 1867; Paducah, 1868; Water Valley, 1869-72; Columbus, 1873-4; Crawford, 1875; Macon, 1876-7; Hebron, 1878-9; was supernumerary 1881-95, and in 1896 was superannuated. He again became active in 1900 and took charge of the Orphans' Home until the close of 1901, when he finally retired from active service and remained on the superannuate list until his death at his home in Starkville, Miss., Dec. 3, 1917.

He was twice married. First, to Miss Emma Curtis, of Tennessee, in 1855. Seven children were born of this union, two of whom survive—Walton Harrison, a prominent lawyer of New York City, and John Moss Harrison of Washington City, Chief of the Custom's Division of the Treasury Department of the U. S. Government. He was married the second time to Miss Eliza Virginia Barnett, of Noxubee County, Miss., on Feb. 2, 1878, whose devotion to him was beautiful and who spared no pains to make his home comfortable and happy—a loved task in which she splendidly succeeded, being practical, domestic and endowed with unusual gifts. Two children blessed this union, William Barnett Harrison, a popular physician at Belzoni, Miss., and Mrs. Charlie Harrison Reynolds of Starkville, Miss., who tenderly ministered to her father following the death of her mother.

These are the annals of a long life, covering eighty-five years. For sixty-two years Brother Harrison was a Methodist preacher, active most of the time, though he suffered from a chronic throat trouble that occasionally obliged him to desist for awhile from his "loved employ."

The outstanding fact of his life, the foundation of his character, the inspiration of his work, the secret of his success was his love for God. He not only knew that he was a child of God, but he knew the place and the hour of his great experience. This love of God unfolded itself and grew deeper and deeper to the end of his days.

Brother Harrison loved the Church, understood its doctrines, was in accord with its teachings and was animated with its catholic spirit. His long and laborious ministry proved his devotion to the truth of the evangelical message committed to Methodism. He was not "carried about with every wind of doctrine," but was loyal to "the faith once delivered to the saints." Like Wesley, he was not the slave of a creed, but hospitable to all truth, ready to welcome its larger expression and firm in the belief that it would shine more and more unto the perfect day.

He loved knowledge. Handicapped by lack of early education, he had a passion for knowledge and an indomitable will to acquire it. He became proficient in his acquaintance with the Greek New Testament—itsself the basis of a broad and liberal culture. He was literary in his instincts, tastes and habits. Had he lived in the golden age of Pericles, he would have been the companion of Sophocles and Euripides; Aristotle would have invited him to his home, and Plato would have waited to speak to him at the door of the theater of Dionysus, after hearing him read from his "Supremacy of life":

"This, then is chaos, famed by Greeks of old,
Supposed by them to be the first estate.
So little did they know of that great Life,
The true unwasting source of boundless things;
Sufficient Cause of everything that is,
In being's wide dominion ever found.
And this chaotic mass of blackest night,
So big that worlds might vie with worlds within
The ample space—and all was held in shape
By gravitation's law divinely fixed."

Had he lived in New England instead of Mississippi, his fame would have been as wide as the world of letters. It is easy to fancy him in the classic neighborhood of Harvard with Longfellow, Lowell, Holmes, Channing and Hawthorne, and to fancy Emerson putting his finger to his lips as a token for silence while they listened to this:

"There is a mental harmony divine,
To which all minds accord when put in tune;
A grand polarity of thought which sweeps
All minds in one true symphony of right,
In harmony with God's own will divine.
'Tis this which makes the bliss of heaven great.
For this the Teacher taught us all to pray:
'Thy will on earth be done as angels do
That will complete in Heaven's high abode."

But he loved the South. No air but that of his native hills would have been congenial to his lungs. The glory of Southern life is in its intense attachments to its locality. Though provincial, it is the source of the patriotism and civic pride that marks our people. We are not cosmopolitan and we are not literary. Yet Wesley was a voluminous author and Asbury left his little earthly possessions to start a publishing house in America. It is time for us Methodists to awake and when such a genius as Harrison appears among us, let our appreciation foster and encourage his work. His chief work is "The Supremacy of Life," a metaphysico-theological poem, characterized by elevated thought, virile imagination and spiritual earnestness. He also wrote "Sam Williams—A Tale of the Old South," "Jerusalem Destroyed," and "A Life of Jesus."

Brother Harrison lived happily in his home. If the Oktibbeha hills lacked the intellectual inspiration of the haunts around Harvard, he found ample stimulus in a deep love of nature around him and in the delights of his home, the esteem of his neighbors and the consciousness of a well-spent life. God gave our Mississippi Milton the rare felicity of an affectionate daughter, who understood his worth and could appreciate his merit. Mrs. Reynolds lovingly ministered to him in his last years and cheered him by her interest in his literary work. To her he appropriately left the disposition of his writings.

He worked up to the end. After his superannuation, he taught a large Bible class in the Methodist Church at Starkville with unsurpassed fidelity and distinguished ability. It was a rare privilege to sit under his luminous instruction and it is safe to say that that the influence he thus exerted will long abide. Of this class he thought much in his last hours, sending to it messages which evinced his affectionate interest in its future.

The illness which eventuated in his home-going was of brief duration, and he was conscious almost up to the moment of his translation. He rounded out the eighty-five years of his life, not with vain regrets nor imbecile complaints, but happy in the Christian hope of the blissful life to come. His pastor, the late Rev. J. C. Park, wrote thus concerning his departure:

"His going away was a triumph. He knew his end was approaching and the coming of the death angel was a source of joy to him. 'Oh the bliss of dying,' was one of the exclamations of delight in the prospect of his passing. The song 'Happy Day' was on his lips as the day of his earthly career was closing, and the last audible word that he uttered was 'Glory.' A large assembly of friends followed his remains to the cemetery after appropriate services at the Methodist Church in Starkville conducted by the pastor assisted by Dr. T. C. Wier, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb and Rev. J. D. Ray, pastor of the local Baptist Church. The choir sang at his funeral an original unpublished hymn, 'We'll Conquer There,' which he had written, one stanza of which is as follows:

'Let grace and love within us reign
Till sin be dead and passion slain;
In ease or toil, in joy or pain,
We'll conquer there.'

So, doubtless, he did "overcome" all the enemies of his soul, and has taken his seat near the throne of our triumphant Lord, according to the promise of the Seer of Patmos. He belonged to the generation of heroes who will have to be seen in the perspective of history to be appreciated. Among the devoted circuit riders whose integrity of life, fidelity in service, and unswerving loyalty to Christ helped to make the Mississippi Valley a cradle of Christian civilization, and whose memory will adorn the records of the North Mississippi Conference will stand the name of William Samuel Harrison. Memoir of Rev. W. C. Lester.

The true epic of our times is not man and material splendor, but man and God. The only essential revelation of God is man and the only superman is the God-inspired man. A noble life filled with the light of God and breathing the radiance of hope and faith, rises infinitely above and outlives all pride and pomp and glory of empire. If we must have heroes, and wars in which to make them, there is no war so brilliant as the war with wrong; no hero so fit to be sung as he who has gained the bloodless victory of a spotless life and unquenchable sympathy and mercy for bewildered and broken humanity. This life is no sparkling epigram of unmoral action but a luminous epic of character. In the long, dark history of the ages, men of God, the heroes of the Cross, have been the highest types of chivalry, the best exponents of truth and righteousness, the noblest reliance of virtue and the safest guardians of civilization.

All of the above, and much more than can be expressed by our poor tongue, is true of our dear, erstwhile brother and fellow laborer, but now sainted, William C. Lester. He was born in Yalobusha County, Miss., on October 29, 1853, and was a son of Dr. James D. and Lizzie Cook Lester. His own mother died when William was two years of age. It is said that for almost a day before she left this earthly scene she had her child near, her hand upon his head, praying God to keep and guide and make a preacher of him.

It is not hard for those who knew Brother Lester, his exceeding sweetness of spirit, his gentleness of manner, his loving radiance of soul, to believe that the earnest prayers of his sainted mother were answered in his life to the end of his days. Upon his mother's death he was left to the care and training of his Grandmother Lester, who was nobly furnished for such a delicate and responsible duty. How well she succeeded in this sacred charge was evidenced in the life and character of the man.

Brother Lester's early years were spent on the farm, where he caught and interpreted many of the head and heart problems of life which built him into a man of rare strength, poise, calmness of spirit and soundness of judgment. The beginning of his education was in the country schools. Later on, his grandfather moved to the city of Oxford and William was put in the State University. From this university his mental training and discipline were obtained which so well fitted him for his life work.

Brother Lester was married to Miss Parmelia Alice Patterson, of Tula, on August 26, 1875. She is a woman of rare character and common sense and they two made a happy, attractive home, not only for their children but for all who entered it.

His faithful wife and six devoted children survive to mourn their loss: Mrs. Capt. Bradford, Miss Daisy and K. P. of Tutwiler, Miss., Mrs. Thatcher, of Dallas, Texas, Lieut. William C., with our Expeditionary Forces in France, and John P., a noble, heroic soul who was among the very first volunteers of that immortal army of American patriots to brave the seas and the deadly submarine menace to give their lives for the sacred heritage of world liberty. John P., true to his blood and ideals of Christian training, was among the very first few American youths to draw the sword and face the enemy in the thick of the fight on the sacred soil of sunny France. In this battle he was slightly wounded and is now in a German prison in West Prussia. The Dear Lord—some sweet day, when peace shall come again to men—will bring these brave sons of a noble sire back to their loved ones and friends who are lone-some while they are gone.

Brother Lester was soundly converted at the Oxford Camp Ground and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1874. He was licensed to preach in December of the same year and was admitted in the North Mississippi Conference, November 23, 1875. He was received into full connection two years later and ordained deacon by Bishop Kavanaugh. His entire itinerant life was spent in the North Mississippi Conference, where he served the following appointments: 1876-7, Newport Circuit; 1878-80, Richmond Circuit; 1881, Quincy Circuit; 1882-84, Sarepta Circuit; 1885-86, Benela Circuit; 1887-88, Atlanta Circuit; 1889-92, Chester Circuit; 1893-94, Eupora Circuit; 1895, Ackerman Circuit; 1896, Coffeeville Circuit; 1897-1900, Black Hawk Circuit; 1901, Sidon and Itta Bena; 1902-04, Houston and Wesley; 1905-08, Guntown and Baldwin; 1909, Crawford Circuit; 1910-11, Webb Circuit; 1912-13, Isola Circuit; 1914-16, Arcola Circuit; 1917-18, Tutwiler Circuit. From this latter appointment the faithful itinerant was transferred from the labors of the church militant to the rest and peace of the Church Triumphant. Suddenly, like a watch in the night, without previous warning and with only a few minutes of violent coughing on the night of February 28, 1918, just at 11:30 o'clock, the wheels of life stood still and the spirit of comrade and loving friend and brother went home to the God whom he adored and served. The writer was with him only a few days before his demise in his first quarterly conference. Brother Lester was just beginning what promised a fine year's work. He was hopeful and cheerful, but alas, alas for our human calculations! His people loved him and showed the deepest anguish of sorrow and loss when he was taken. They did all they could for him and his stricken family.

Brother Lester was a strong, thoughtful gospel preacher, a man of keen observation, analytical mind and great spiritual insight into the deep things of God, in the Bible and outside of it.

His life was greater than any sermon ever preached by the most eloquent of men. His troubles and griefs over the loss of his children had only mellowed and sweetened his great heart of peace and quiet and made radiant with eternal assurance the deep and silent yearnings of his noble soul. His love was like the love of a woman and his life the clear shining of the sun on a cloudless day. He was a noble husband, a tender father, a genial friend, a faithful minister of Jesus Christ, and we know where we shall find him. On the first Sunday in March, the writer accompanied the sad members of the household to Ackerman, Miss., where, in the afternoon, we held the last rites of the funeral service under the tabernacle of old South Union Camp Ground, and amid the sorrow and tears of scores of his former friends and parishioners, we laid his mortal remains beneath the red hills to await the resurrection of the just in that glad day when the Lord shall come to gather his children home.

I loved him devotedly for the warm heart he carried for all his kind. The dear Lord bless and guide and keep in peace his lonely companion and sorrowing children.

L. M. LIPSCOMB.

Henry Clay Morehead.

By Rev. J. H. Holder.

"There is a prince and a great man fallen in Israel." With the passing of H. C. Morehead, a man of more than ordinary powers has passed from among us. His familiar figure will be greatly missed. We shall feel the loss of his fatherly counsel, his hearty handgrasp and his genial smile.

Henry Clay Morehead was born in Tippah County, Miss., June 2, 1848, not far from Holly Springs, then in Benton County. His parents were G. S. and Mrs. R. Morehead. His parents died while he was yet a child and he was reared in the home of "Uncle" Joe Brooks. Here he found foster parents that tenderly cared for him and gave to him that holy ideal and those rock convictions that made of him the stalwart man of later years. He was given a high school education, which was, for the war and reconstruction days, a most splendid opportunity. The literary bent given him in home and in school served him well and not only made him a man of culture and learning, but impelled him to give to each of his children a college education.

While yet a boy he made a definite consecration of his life to Christ. He was converted on the old Hickory Flat Circuit in July, 1865, at sixteen years of age. He never ceased to preach and to testify to the gospel of Regeneration and the Inner Witness. He soon realized his call to the ministry, and in 1869 made the confirmation of that call in his own decision to preach. He was licensed to preach at Brook's Chapel, on the old Chulahoma Circuit, July 4, 1869. He was admitted on trial at the Holly Springs Conference in 1869. He was received into full connection and ordained deacon by Bishop Kavanaugh at Columbus in 1871. He was ordained elder at Corinth in 1872 by Bishop Kavanaugh.

His was a long and fruitful ministry of which he never tired. His appointments were: Tyro, 1870; Lamar, 1871; Como and Fredonia, 1872; Pleasant Hill, 1873; Cockrum, 1874-5; Longtown, 1876-77; Cornersville, 1878; supernumerary, 1879-80; Caswell Circuit, 1881; Austin and Friar's Point, 1882-3; Concordia and Australia, 1884; Toccopola, 1885; supernumerary, 1886; Grenada Circuit (supernumerary 1887), 1887-88-89-90; Pickens Circuit, 1891; Sardis District, 1892-95; Grenada District, 1896-99; Shaw, 1900; Houston and Wesley, 1901; Indianola, 1901-03; Itta Bena, 1904-05; supernumerary, 1906-10; superannuated, 1911-18. Thus briefly stated is the skeleton of the years. But how full of life and labors, toil and sacrifice, joys and sorrows, successes and reverses no tongue can ever tell.

In 1873, while pastor of the Pleasant Hill Circuit, he was married to Miss Eliza P. Fowler, who was his companion of nearly sixteen years, and the mother of his eight children—three boys and five girls. Two children died in infancy—Dwight Ernest and Percy E. Six survive him—Mrs. Stella Williams, Dallas, Tex.; M. E. Morehead, Courtland, Miss.; Mrs. Mable Barbee, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Gertrude Gable, Hobart, Okla.; Mrs. Lucile Penn, Colorado Springs, Col.; Mrs. Nina Kendall, Courtland, Miss. While he was pastor of Grenada Circuit, 1888, this good wife went to her reward. With a heroism unexcelled, this Methodist preacher in poor health set about the task of educating his six children and succeeded well in the undertaking. He did not live in affluence, but he fed them on the best things of culture and religion. In 1891 he was married to Miss Mattie Williams, of Grenada, who was the companion of twenty-two years. She died June 23, 1913. In 1915 he was married to Miss Mattie Beard, of Shelbyville, Ky., who was the companion and comfort of his last years.

He was never a robust man, though most of his life he enjoyed fairly good health. Three times he was forced to take supernumerary relations. The last twelve years, his health slowly failed him and he was forced to give up almost all his work. He sought health on his farm, in the mountains and in the West, but found it not. His last two years were spent almost entirely in the home of his son, M. E. Morehead, at Courtland, where he died April 22, 1918. The funeral was held in the Courtland Church by his pastor and presiding elder and other brethren; then his body was carried to Grenada to the family burying lot and laid to rest to await the Resurrection Angel.

He was a most devoted man to his home. He was father, mother, brother and companion. His home was a home of love and life. He lived to make his children strong and great. They are his crown of rejoicing.

While public-spirited and interested in all affairs, he was most devoted to the Church to which he dedicated his life to labor for the Master. He was a successful pastor and presiding elder, painstaking, thorough-going and energetic. He applied the same business qualifications to his Church as to his temporal affairs. Devoted to his Church, he preached her doctrines, believed her teachings, was loyal to her rules, and proud always to acknowledge himself a Methodist. He was a man of courage, who did not hesitate to speak out his convictions and to fight for the thing he considered right. He was a strong preacher. Even in his old days and enfeebled health, he loved to preach, and when he did preach the old-time fire would rekindle as he would lose himself in the great themes of the gospel. The people were delighted to hear him and always sought him again.

His experience was rich and sweet. It was a delight to sit in his presence and talk with him about the Church and the brethren, for he loved them every one. Then to read and pray, communing together with the Father, was a real benediction. He felt himself in the presence of the Father as with his brethren, talking face-to-face. It was an experience that none who had the pleasure can ever forget. He wanted his pastor and his brethren often, and they often visited and communed with him. He lived well, he wrought well, he died in the full triumphs of a living faith. He lives on in the many lives he touched and blesses the world. "Servant of God, well done."

Rev. Samuel Monroe Thames.

Samuel Monroe Thames, the son of John and Ruth (Cobb) Thames, was born in Shelby County, Alabama, January 14, 1835. He came of a sturdy and worthy ancestry and the early influences about him in the home of his parents were wholesome and helpful. As a result, he was soundly converted when a boy and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The educational opportunities in the Southern States at that time were not so abundant as they are to-day, but he attended a high school in Bibb County, in which he was well taught and where he laid the foundations for the largely useful life that was to follow. In the opening days of his young manhood he was anxious to enter the legal profession and for some time planned to do so, but a higher hand than his own was shaping his course and a divine call to the Christian ministry came to him so clearly and unmistakably, that he felt, "Woe unto me if I preach not the Gospel." Like the great Apostle to the Gentiles, he was not "disobedient to the heavenly vision," but, under the influence of this strong conviction, he set about making ready for his life-work. Having been licensed to preach in 1857, he joined the Alabama Conference in 1859, and served the Winston Mission in 1860, and the Murphy Valley Circuit in 1861 and '62, being ordained a deacon at the close of his second year (in 1861) by Bishop Early.

At this time the War between the States was furiously raging, and the young itinerant entered the service of his country, becoming an officer in Company D, of the Thirtieth Alabama Regiment. A braver soldier never wore the gray in that memorable struggle. He participated in the siege of Vicksburg and the fighting that led up to it. While commanding his Company in the Battle of Baker's Creek, he lost his youngest brother, Charles, and a brother-in-law, both being killed. He went into that battle with forty men, and came out with eight. It was once the writer's privilege to go on a train from Jackson, Miss., to Vicksburg with Brother Thames, and during the trip he commented on the campaign that took place about the Hill City, relating many of the trying experiences that he passed through in those fearful days, telling particularly of the agony that wrung his soul when he had to leave his brother slain upon the field that had been so fiercely contested. But though he remained loyal to the South and the cause for which she so splendidly sacrificed and suffered, he carried no bitterness toward the North in his heart. He took pride in the glories of the reunited Nation, and there was beneath the flag of the Stars and Stripes no citizen more patriotic or more devoted to the true welfare of the whole country than was he.

Having been honorably discharged from the army, the year 1864 found Brother Thames again at his "loved employ," in the itinerant ministry, being still in the Alabama Conference, in which he served the following charges, in addition to those already mentioned: 1864, Jonesboro Circuit; 1865, Choctaw Circuit (he this year received at Mobile elder's orders at the hands of Bishop Paine); 1866 and '67, Butler and Mt. Sterling; 1868-'71, Gaston Circuit; 1872, Suggsville Circuit; 1873-'74, Dayton and Springfield. At the close of the latter year, he was transferred to the North Mississippi Conference, where he remained until his death, serving therein the following appointments: 1875-'76, Wood Street, Water Valley; 1877-'80, Crawford Circuit; 1881, Hebron Circuit; 1882, Kosciusko and Durant; 1883-'86, Grenada District; 1887-'90, Sardis District; 1891-'94, Winona District; 1895-'98, Aberdeen District; 1899, Macon Station; 1900-'01, Minter City and Strathmore; 1902-'04, Coldwater and Love's; 1905-'07, Grenada District; 1908, Durant District; 1909-'10, Pickens Circuit; 1911-'12, Carrollton; 1912-'15, Hernando; 1915-'18, superannuated.

In 1867, Brother Thames was united in marriage to Miss Mary Elizabeth DeLoach, of DeSotenville, Ala., and this union was in every respect a most happy one. The accomplished young bride was admirably equipped to be the wife of a Methodist minister, and in every field to which her consecrated husband was assigned she re-enforced his efforts and contributed largely to the success that he achieved. The home of this devoted couple was blessed with four children—two daughters and two sons. The older daughter died in infancy, and the younger son, Charles, who was a promising young lawyer at Vicksburg, died suddenly shortly after his father's superannuation, giving him a shock from which he did not seem ever wholly to recover. The other son, Hon. James D. Thames, a leading member of the Mississippi bar, resides at Vicksburg, and has for some years filled with distinction the responsible office of District Attorney. Mrs. Connie Loyd, the surviving daughter, resides with her mother at Jackson, Miss. She had the misfortune to lose her husband some years ago, when she became again an inmate of her father's home, being a great help and blessing to him in his closing years.

Personally, Brother Thames was a most attractive man. Though not above medium size, his physical frame was compactly built and he was capable of much hard and sustained labor. His temperament was hopeful, and his geniality quickly drew people to him. In the social circle he was delightful, and when he visited a home he left behind pleasant recollections, which did not soon pass away.

Brother Thames' active ministry covered a period of fifty-five years, during which time he labored with a diligence and zeal that never flagged. Duty was his watchword, and he spent his strength freely and unselfishly in whatever work the Church commissioned him to do. He wrought effectively on circuits and in stations, and served for twenty years in the presiding eldership. His fitness for that important office was universally recognized, and he magnified it and made it a mighty force for the upbuilding of the Church and the Master's Kingdom. As the president of a quarterly conference, he was wise, tactful, and masterful, and in the Cabinet he was a valuable counselor on whom the Bishop could safely rely. Bishop Galloway said he knew no presiding elder in the Church who, for general effectiveness, was his superior. He never traveled a district which he did not leave in a far better condition than he found it. And what a friend he was to the young ministers who served under him! He took a deep interest in their spiritual and intellectual development and sought in every possible way to incite them to seek all that was highest and best. He was the writer's first presiding elder, and his indebtedness to him for his helpfulness is beyond the power of words to express. And he left a like impress upon scores of others whom he touched in the opening years of their itinerancy.

As a preacher, Brother Thames was strong, suggestive, and forceful. He was a clear and vigorous thinker and he dealt with the great, vital themes of the Gospel in his discourses. For the graces of the rhetorician he cared little; he appraised a sermon by the thought contained in it. He gripped his audiences by his striking, practical way of presenting the truth, and held them, as he proceeded with the discussion of his subject, by the orderly processes of his logic. He was never dull and uninteresting. He was no distributor of other men's wares—he was analytical, original, and sometimes startling, in the views expressed. On some occasions he preached with great unction and power, profoundly moving his hearer and awakening within them an earnest hunger for God and spiritual things. The Heavenly Father honored his pulpit messages and he was not without many seals to his ministry.

But besides being an effective pastor and preacher, Brother Thames had uncommon gifts of leadership. It is doubtful whether any other member of the North Mississippi Conference has ever made his influence more strongly felt for the good of the Church in Mississippi. He had a considerable part in all the great enterprises that the Methodism of that State has carried forward within recent decades. He was an active worker in the movement to acquire the Grenada College property and to set that institution going. He served on its Board of Trustees for twenty-five years, faithfully attending its meetings and leaving nothing in his power undone to promote its interests. He was one of the original trustees of Millsaps College and helped to cradle and launch that choice school, and he was still serving in that capacity at the time of his decease. His love for Millsaps was ardent and deep, and he was never known to miss a Commencement or a meeting of its Board of Trust. He was a warm personal friend of Bishop Galloway and Major Millsaps, and so safe was his judgment that they counted it worth while to seek his views in council. He was also a fast friend of the Mississippi Orphans' Home at Jackson and gave valuable support to that institution both in its earlier and later years.

Best of all, however, Brother Thames was a good man. He was virile and aggressive, and his piety was not of "the luscious sort"; but he had a sound experience of grace and he was genuine to the core. He was bold, outspoken, and incapable of any sort of deception. He had an unwavering faith in the fundamental verities of the Christian religion, and he was a man of prayer, who lived in daily communion with the risen Lord. The Bible to him was truly the Word of God and he was willing to stake all upon its teachings. He lived above reproach. No whisper was ever heard against the purity of his character. And how he loved his Church! He had a passionate devotion to it, and his loyalty to its interests could not be shaken. All that he had was upon its altar, and twined about it were the very tendrils of his heart.

Everywhere a worthy disciple of the Lord Jesus, it was not surprising that the home life of our ascended brother was so ideal and beautiful. He was a chivalrous and devoted husband, and a kind, tender, affectionate father. One could not be his guest without carrying away delightful memories of that charming family circle, for love reigned there and Christian courtesy abounded. I do not think I have ever known the head of a household to be more revered and honored by his wife and children than was Brother Thames. The affection and watchful interest that he so unstintedly gave to them seemed to be returned to him in full measure.

The deceased was nearly eighty years of age when he gained his consent to put off the active harness and take the superannuate relation. Very few men have the vigor and energy to continue on the effective list to so late a period in life. In order to be near his sons in Vicksburg and close to Millsaps College, where he knew he would be able to meet often many of the friends that he had learned to love, he decided to make his home in Jackson. So long as he was able, he there attended regularly the ordinances of the Church, and he continued to take a keen interest in all that pertained to the Kingdom of Christ. It was evident, however, to the close observer that his strength was gradually failing, and he seemed to grow feebler more rapidly after the sorrow that came to him in the unexpected death of his beloved son, to which reference has already been made. In February, 1917, he fell and broke his arm, and was as a result a shut-in for several weeks, but at last recovered sufficiently to be present again at the services of the sanctuary and to attend the Millsaps Commencement of that year. On the 5th of September, 1917, he and Sister Thames celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, the occasion being a happy one to them and their many friends. A month later, while out walking, he slipped upon a banana peeling and fell, fracturing his hip. Then followed weeks of painful suffering, until finally he was able to get in a rolling chair and go about the house. But frequently he would complain of being very tired and express an earnest longing for rest. About two weeks before his death, he was seized with an attack of la grippe, from which he suffered greatly. All that his faithful physician, Dr. E. H. Galloway, and the tender hands of anxious loved ones could do, was done; but nothing could prolong the earthly stay of the worn and weary pilgrim. Just as day was dawning on April 11, 1918, he peacefully fell asleep, surrounded by the members of his family and other relatives and friends.

The obsequies took place in the spacious Galloway Memorial Church, in Jackson, on Friday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, in the presence of a large concourse of people, gathered from the city and other sections of the State. The Millsaps College Faculty and the resident superannuated preachers acted as honorary pallbearers. The service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. C. W. Crisler, who spoke touchingly and appreciatively of the deceased, as also did Rev. J. R. Countiss and Rev. W. W. Woollard, of the North Mississippi Conference. The hymns used were "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "The Home of the Soul," and "Soldier of Christ, Well Done." The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, attesting the high esteem in which the translated veteran was held. The body later was transported to Vicksburg, and laid to rest in that historic city, with Dr. T. B. Holloman officiating.

Rev. C. R. A. Brantley.

Cornelius Ransom A. Brantley, son of Hon. A. H. Brantley, was born April 10, 1866. He was educated at Kosciusko Institute and at Clarksville, Tenn. He was converted when thirteen years of age and was licensed to preach at twenty. He joined the North Mississippi Conference in 1886 and served the following charges: 1887, Shuqualak Circuit; 1888, Ashland Circuit; 1889, Tampico Circuit; 1890, Walthall Circuit; 1891, Jonesboro Circuit. At the end of the latter year, he was located at his own request, and was out of the ministry for a number of years, serving part of the time with the Anti-Saloon League, the rest of it in the newspaper business.

In Florida he received a fresh religious experience, the story of which he loved to relate, and never without joyous tears. He was again licensed to preach at Kilmichael during a session of the Winona District Conference in 1912 and joined the traveling connection in 1913. He served the Indianola Mission in 1914-15, and the Okolona Circuit in 1916-17. He was sent to the Vardaman Circuit for 1918, but was physically able to make but one round of appointments, but so endeared himself to the people that they loved him and stood loyally by him till his death, August 30, 1918.

While on the Walthall Circuit in 1890 he was married to Miss Mamie Shaeffer, one daughter, Willie, being born to them. On January 16, 1916, he was married to Miss Emma Hudspeth and to them was born a daughter just two weeks before his death.

Bro. Brantley was operated on for appendicitis at the Houston Hospital in the spring of 1918. While there it was my pleasure to visit him often and to talk freely with him. He was at all times hopeful and spoke often of his trials and blessings. He was rich in faith and was trusting God for the blessing of perfect love. His faith, hope and charity all conspired to make him a purer man and a more efficient pastor. He slipped away from us just when it seemed that he was best prepared to serve God and the Church, his last words being, "I am ready to go." May the Heavenly Father comfort the bereaved family.

E. M. SHAW.

Rev. J. C. Park.

John Calhoun Park was born near Houston in Chickasaw County, Miss., March 27, 1868, his parents being A. A. and Octavia Park. His mother died when he was but an infant, but under the genial influences of a Christian home, he was converted at the age of nine, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He entered the ministry in April, 1888, when barely twenty years of age and gave to his chosen work thirty years of zealous and unbroken service. He joined the North Mississippi Conference in the winter of 1888 and was appointed Junior Preacher at Houston and Wesley. During this Conference year, he assisted the pastor and attended school at Houston. In the fall of 1889, he was happily married to Miss Bettie Shell. To them were born two daughters, Leonese and Maye, the former of whom is now Mrs. W. H. Robinson.

In 1889, he was sent to Prairie and Strongs, where he labored for three happy and successful years, being loved devotedly by his parishioners. In 1893 he was again appointed Junior Preacher at Houston and Wesley, and he pursued his studies at Houston, receiving the degree of bachelor of arts at the Mississippi Normal College in June, 1893. As a student, he was quick to grasp the underlying principles of his work and had a memory and a facility for expression that gave him rank as a leader in his classes. In the fall of 1893 he was made pastor of the Houston and Wesley charge which he served for the year 1894. Then followed pastorates at Booneville and Baldwyn, Kosciusko, Rosedale, Main Street (Water Valley), and Winona. In 1903-4 he was presiding elder of the Aberdeen District, where he gave great satisfaction to both preachers and people. In 1905 he entered upon a quadrennium of service as pastor of the church at Greenwood, then perhaps the leading appointment in his Conference. All in all, this pastorate was probably the crowning work of his ministry. His very life-blood was put into the service of this important charge, which made marked advancement in all lines during his administration. From Greenwood he went to Oxford, thence to Macon, to Tupelo, at Sardis and to Starkville, where the grim reaper cut him down in the second year of an active and successful pastorate.

In body, Bro. Park was of slight build, and delicate mould. He was blonde with keen blue eyes, high forehead and strong face. His health was never robust, and it is doubtful if he spent a day free from pain and discomfort in the last fifteen years of his life. But if nature gave him a frail body, she endowed him with a strong mind and a great heart. He was diligent both in his study and in his pastoral duties and made full proof of his ministry, maintaining a cheerful and kindly disposition in spite of pain and suffering. Such was his genial nature, his generous sympathy and his genuine affection for his brethren that he was frequently called the St. John of the younger men in his Conference.

His memory was accurate and retentive and he drew illustrative material from a wide field, making most diligent and careful preparation for his pulpit ministrations. The master of an easy, elegant and forceful style in English, he gave considerable attention to the ornamentation of his sermons, especially in his early ministry. In delivery, he was nervous and earnest. He was too gifted to be dull and too devout to be frivolous. He stood before men as an ambassador for Christ. The great truths of the Gospel burned so fervently in his own heart that no luke-warm message ever fell from his lips. He knew of a certainty that which he preached and his hearers were never in doubt as to his convictions. Naturally he was an evangelistic preacher and the Holy Spirit sealed his work with abundant fruits in souls born into the kingdom under his preaching. He was much in demand as a revival preacher and his last service was in holding a meeting at Friars Point from which he returned worn and weakened to fall an immediate victim to influenza and pneumonia.

In every relation of life, he was true, worthy, courteous, frank and loyal. What a generous, brotherly, sympathetic friend he was! In his home, he was a Christian gentleman, patient, considerate, thoughtful, desiring always that his loved ones should receive the best that he could provide for their welfare and comfort. He was a recognized leader in his Conference, serving on important boards and in responsible places. He was loved and trusted by his brethren who knew him to be a man without guile, and remarkably free from those prejudices which mar so many characters. He gave freely of his time and thought to the interests committed to his care.

It had been the hope of his brethren that under the surgeon's knife and the doctor's healing physic he would live to round out a good old age in his chosen work in wider fields and with larger good to the Church he served and greater glory to the God he loved, but this was not to be. Frail in body, worn by disease and tired by toils unceasing, the "good minister of Jesus Christ" fell on sleep. After a few days of suffering from pneumonia in his parsonage home at Starkville, his spirit took its flight to the better land, October 10, 1918. His body was laid to rest beside his loved ones gone before at Houston, Miss., on October 11th, the funeral service being conducted by his life-long friend, Rev. R. A. Tucker. Peace to his ashes and rest to his soul! We shall see him again in the home of the good.

J. R. COUNTISS.

Rev. William Sylvester Lagrone.

When on November 20, 1918, at Drew, Miss., Rev. W. S. Lagrone closed his eyes in death, a burning and a shining light in the Church Militant went out; and as the sad news that he had passed away was spread abroad, there were sad hearts and tear-wet eyes all over North Mississippi. Since its organization this Conference has been blessed with the lives and labors of some as worthy itinerants as perhaps ever wrought in any section of world-wide Methodism, but none of these moved upon a higher plane, or toiled more unselfishly, or left behind a more inspiring record than this spiritual son of Wesley, who was the latest to go from us during this year so filled with bereavements. There have been many who were more widely known to the Church and to the world, but—

"A whiter soul, a fairer mind,
A life with purer course and aim,
A gentlier eye, a voice more kind,
We may not look on earth to find.
The love that lingers o'er his name
Is more than fame."

William Sylvester Lagrone, son of Rev. G. M. and Mrs. M. E. Lagrone, was born in Perry County, Ala., on January 27, 1846. His father was a local preacher of more than ordinary force; so he came of godly parentage and was the product of a Christian home. From his youth he was clean in thought and conduct. It is said that he never tasted an intoxicating beverage or used an oath in his life. He was converted in August, 1865; was licensed to preach in 1871, and was admitted on trial into the traveling connection in the North Mississippi Conference in 1872. In 1874, he was admitted into full connection and was ordained deacon by Bishop Doggett. He received elder's orders at the hands of Bishop Pierce in 1876.

The following appointments were served by Bro. Lagrone: Bellefontaine Circuit, 1873-4; Attalla Circuit, 1875-8; Liberty Circuit, 1879-80; French Camp Circuit, 1881; Winona Circuit, 1882-85; Grenada Circuit, 1886; Vaiden Circuit, 1887-89; Corinth District, 1890-93; Aberdeen District, 1894; Senatobia Station, 1895-6; West Point Station, 1897-8; Wood Street (Water Valley), 1899; Sardis District, 1900-01; Durant District, 1902-05; Cleveland Station, 1906-7; Conference Missionary and Evangelist, 1908-9; Greenville Station, 1910-13; Clarksdale Station, 1914-15; Drew Station, 1916-18.

He was a member of the General Conference which met in Birmingham, Ala., in 1906.

In 1869, Bro. Lagrone was happily married to Miss Frances Hall, of Alabama, who shared his fortunes in the itinerancy until 1905, when she died in Cleveland, Miss. Of this union ten children were born: Mr. W. F. Lagrone, a prominent business man of West Point, Miss.; Mrs. W. W. Lake, of Aberdeen, Miss.; Mrs. E. S. Byers, of Water Valley, Miss., deceased; Marvin Lagrone, who died at Grenada; Kenneth Andrew Lagrone, who died at Senatobia; Mrs. James Henderson, of Charleston, Miss.; Mrs. P. C. Wall, of Drew, Miss.; and Miss Beulah Lagrone, Mr. C. E. Lagrone, and Miss Laura Lagrone, of New Orleans, La. Such was the home life of our brother that he was revered and honored by the members of his family in a manner that was impressive and beautiful, and those surviving bear testimony to his exalted character and Christ-like spirit.

The career of Bro. Lagrone as a Methodist itinerant extended over a period of forty-five years, during which time he was on the effective list. When he hearkened to the Master's call and took up his life-work, his equipment for it was very meager, viewed from the standpoint of the schoolmen, his educational instruction having carried him only through the common schools of that day. But he knew the value of books, rightly used, and resolved to make the most of his opportunities. So he managed amid the arduous and pressing duties of his first years in the ministry to set aside brief seasons for study. This habit he kept up through life, insisting upon having some quiet place where he could read, meditate and pray. As a result of his diligent and systematic study he never ceased to grow. The late Rev. J. W. Honnell remarked to me just before Bro. Lagrone was assigned to the Greenville Station in 1909, that he had improved more in his pulpit efforts in the preceding ten years than any man he had known. Of few men can it be truly said that they preach better at sixty-five than at forty-five or fifty, but this was true of him. He was one of the best furnished men of his Conference.

Nature was generous in her gifts to this beloved servant of Christ. He had a magnificent physique, being tall, erect and well proportioned. His face was frank, benevolent and winsome; his eyes were bright and wonderfully expressive; his voice was clear, resonant and musical, and his enunciation could scarcely have been more perfect. He had in a remarkable degree that indefinable thing we call a commanding presence. His mental qualities were likewise of an uncommon order. He had a clear preception of truth, sound reasoning faculties, an excellent memory and a large amount of practical sense. He was impulsive and this led some to speak of him as lacking in poise and judgment; but he made few mistakes, and his work was usually well planned and executed with striking wisdom and skill.

I have never known a man whose credentials as an ambassador for Christ were more outstanding than those of Brother Lagrone. In the first place, he was a man of faith, prayer and a holy life. He exhibited the mind of our Lord to such an extent that none who knew him could doubt that he lived in daily fellowship with him; yet there was about him no affection, no cant, no parading of his piety. He had, furthermore, a passion for souls. To rescue the perishing was the dominant purpose of his life. A still clearer at-testation of his call to the ministry is found in the fact that where he preached souls were born anew and those of the household of faith grew richer in the things of the Spirit.

And what a worker was our glorified friend! His energy was Pauline. He dared not waste the precious time in which he was expected to do the Master's work. He moved with a pace that few could keep, and the pioneers of Methodism were not more enthusiastic and aggressive than he. Had he lived in their time, he would have been a not unworthy companion for Freeborn Garrettson and Jesse Lee. He was the finest example of the pastor-evangelist that has ever come under my observation. There were no neglected sheep where he was the shepherd. He probably led as many souls to Christ as any preacher who ever labored in the regular work in North Mississippi. He was a great commoner and understood the masses; but he carried in his bosom no prejudice against any class and sought to excite none in the breasts of others. His presiding elder, Rev. L. M. Lipscomb, did not speak too strongly when he wrote as follows: "His name was a household word among thousands, and his presence an inspiration to all that was truest and worthiest among men. His convictions were deep, emphatic, and fundamental; his manner gracious, charming and genial as the sunshine; his bearing dignified, but simple and winsome; his humor, keen, kindly and contagious. His character had the solidity of granite; his life the charm of the sun-lit heights; his personality the attractiveness and glamor of romance. The history of Methodism in North Mississippi can never be written without giving him a large and conspicuous place in its annals."

Brother Lagrone made no pretension to being a great preacher in the common acceptance of the term; but he was an able and effective expositor of the word of God. He had the fervor of the orator and his audiences listened with rapt attention as he presented the great themes of the Gospel. His messages not only took hold upon the common people of the shop and the store, but also upon scholarly and professional men, who frequently expressed appreciation of his discourses. In his later years there was probably no pulpit in Southern Methodism in which his preaching would not have been profitable and acceptable.

As a gladiator in the great world-arena where the forces of light and darkness contend, he sounded a loud and clear challenge to the enemies of his Lord. While not a rash man, he would enter no truce with any kind of evil. Others might falter in the battle, but his strong arm never ceased to strike with a sturdy stroke. Montgomery County was the first in Mississippi to vote out the licensed saloon, and to W. S. Lagrone, then serving the Winona Circuit, this victory was acknowledged to have been more largely due than to any other human agency.

He loved the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, with a deep and abiding affection, and did not feel that its mission had been fulfilled and that it should cease to be. He was a connectional Methodist and kept up with the general work of his Church. All the interests of his Conference were largely indebted to him for his loyal and helpful support. His worth was recognized by such leaders as Bishop Galloway and Bishop Murrah, who trusted him and held him in high esteem.

Though past his three-score years and ten, time had dealt gently with him, so that he had scarcely any of the infirmities of age. His step was still elastic and firm, and, both physically and mentally, he seemed yet strong and vigorous. One did not think of him as being old. The illness which took him away was of brief duration. For about ten days he suffered with a form of rheumatism, which was not thought to be dangerous, but on November 20th, he was seized with an attack of acute indigestion, involving the heart and, almost before those about him could realize that his life was menaced, he passed from among them. Taken so suddenly, he could send no farewell message to his friends, but none was needed. His shining record stretching over nearly half a century speaks to us more eloquently than words.

"Why mourn for him? For him
The welcome angel came
Ere yet his eye was dim,
Or bent his stalwart frame;
His weapon still was bright,
His shield was lifted high
To slay the wrong, to save the right—
What happier hour to die"?

His body was interred at Winona, Miss., beside the ashes of his beloved companion. Amid the sobs of his own family and of the many warm friends, he was laid to rest to await the resurrection of the Great Day. The service was conducted by Rev. L. M. Lipscomb, assisted by V. C. Curtis, W. N. Duncan, W. S. Shipman, R. A. Tucker, L. P. Wasson, and John Ritchey.

Friend and fellow-laborer, farewell. Thou art gone, but thou shalt not be forgotten. Fondly shall we cherish thy memory; we shall strive to emulate thy virtues, and we hope finally to become fit to be thy companions in the eternal home of the pure and good.
R. A. MEEK.

Evangelism—The Committee on Evangelism made its report which was read and adopted as follows:

EVANGELISM.

The evangelistic interest of the Church is the central fact of our ministry. This must be the passion of Methodist preachers and now, that the world war is over, we have first of all a new call upon our devotion to Jesus Christ and the sinful world for which he died. The tendency to make patriotism sufficient for salvation for those who were killed upon the field of battle, thereby eliminating the value and need of the blood of Christ, would put Christianity upon a par with the religion of Japan. Let us stand by the pure Gospel of our Lord.

In harmony with the action of the Board of Missions, we endorse the reappointment of J. A. Bowen and J. H. Bell as Conference evangelists and recommend W. M. McIntosh to the General Board for appointment as one of the general evangelists of the church.

W. M. YOUNG, for the Committee.
